

Finger Reading

Braille writing is a special way that people who can't see can still read using their fingers instead of their eyes. It uses patterns of raised dots that are read with the fingertips. Each letter of the alphabet has its own pattern made up of 1-6 dots.

Use the braille alphabet to draw your name!

Write your name in Braille:

See What You Can See

Bartimaeus could see that Jesus was the Son of David even if he couldn't see with his eyes. What words can you spot in this word search? Hint: Each word has an O in it.

What Do You See?

Bartimaeus was blind, but he could see that Jesus was the Messiah! Sometimes our eyes can deceive us. Take a look at each of these optical illusions.

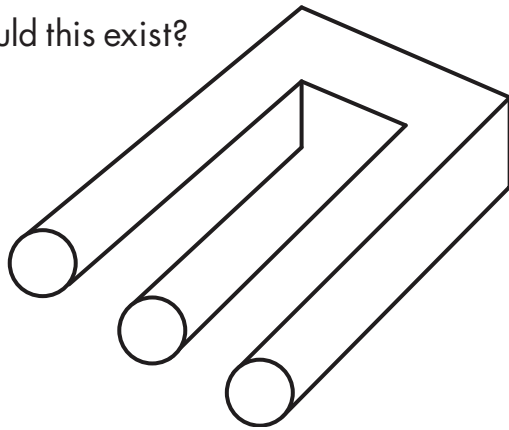

Which bar is taller, the one on the right or the one on the left?

Look at this image for several seconds.
Does it appear to move?

Could this exist?

What do you see — an old lady or a young woman?

Are these curvy lines or straight?
